As a result of a number of dynamite explosions this week in various parts of the coke region and in view of the fact that a large quantity of dynamite was stolen from the Devereaux coal plant near Fairchance it is reported today that mine guards in the region are to be doubled. The latest attempt at destruction property was this morning at the ant of the H. C. Frick Coke Company at Juniata. A stick of explosive was hurled in the rear of a boiler house. It fell several feet short of the wall and the damage was limited to the shattering of a few bricks and the breaking of windows in the vicinity.

The blast was heard at 2:10 o'clock. There was nothing left to indicate what the explosion was but the destruction wrought indicated that it was a single stick of dynamite.

Last night the garage of John Aris at Fairchance was dynamited. The owner is a electrician employed at a mining plant.

Murphy Orders
Killing of Stray
Dogs in the City

Chief of police Murphy said this morning that an officer would be assigned to shoot all stray dogs running about the city streets. This is partially to eliminate the danger of a disease epidemic, warning against which was sounded yesterday by Dr. J. H. Thomas of the State Veterinary department, located at Pittsburgh, who is in the city investigating conditions.

Another complaint about a vicious dog was received at police headquarters this morning and Chief Murphy has not intended to wait until some person is a victim of a mad canine before acting. Owners of animals who use them are advised to keep them under observation both for the protection of other people and to animals themselves. Many dogs in the city have been bitten by dogs and found to have been infected with rabies.

NABBED BY POLICE

Arrested on a serious charge, Randolph Kane of Oakland, Pittsburgh, a truck driver, was given a hearing before Mayor Charles C. Mitchell this morning and given the maximum sentence in that executive's power—90 days to jail or a fine of $100. He will endeavor to secure the money.

The young man, who said he is 22 years old, was arrested last night by Patrolman C. R. Humberston in an office here in company with a 15-year-old girl who gave her name as Gladys Devine Schweb, also of Pittsburgh. She admitted intimate relations with the chauffeur, saying he had brought her here on his machine from Pittsburgh. The couple came here Thursday and remained overnight in the office. Kane became ill the next day and could not return to the Smoky City, also refusing to allow the girl to leave him. Humberston discovered them while covering his beat.

The girl told Chief Murphy her story and how she came into the life she was leading, involving an offer of the Pittsburgh police. She had gone to that city, she said, early this month with directions for employment at an address in Smithfield street. Unable to find the place she was sitting in the Baltimore & Ohio station when approached by a woman who offered to keep her over night and secure her employment the next day. Getting into a machine with the woman and three men, she said they drove into the country where she was forced to submit to the men. One she told the chief, was a police commissioner.

The man Kane on Thursday who was leaving for this city and accompanied him, presumably to South Side, Pittsburgh, she said. They drove through to Uniontown and then returned here. The chief got in touch with the guardians of the girl and she will be returned to them.

Cokers Will Extend Best Efforts to Defeat Grays In Games Here Tuesday

Posey, Manager, Writes Ho Does Not Believe It Can Be Done.

BIG CROWDS LOOKED FOR

Interest in the Connellsville Independents this season has been surprisingly good and judging from conversations heard in sporting quarters everyone is pulling for the locals to trim the Homestead Grays when those teams meet Tuesday morning and afternoon. The ball games will be the chief athletic events in the city on Memorial Day and two great crowds are expected to attend.

This afternoon the Cokers are scheduled to meet the Pittsburgh Collegians in a game at Fayette Field. The collegians arrived in this city this morning from Fairmont where they played yesterday.

Posey, manager of the Grays has written the local management this team will be on hand for the two contests, and adds that he expects a repetition of his former visits—victories.

The locals will have Kozar and Dunaway two pitching aces, on hand for the games. Dunaway is scheduled to pitch the afternoon game but will be ready for the afternoon meeting with the Grays on Tuesday. His arm will be sufficiently rested by that time.

Christian Horseshoe Teams Are Completed

The Christian Church horseshoe teams have been completed by Captain C. Gould Hyatt and Ross W. Shawman. The new practice will be Tuesday evening in the rear of the Y. M. C. A.

The Hyatt team is made up of Mr. Hyatt, Austin Hoover, Harry Henry, Clyde Hixon, John Collins, C. D. Reynolds, Charles A. Crowley, Edward Shantz, F. H. Beighley and B. M. Swartzwelder.

The Poplar Grove Klaidates are scheduled to play a game with the Thomson Thromen at their place this afternoon.

The United Presbyterians won over the Christians in a game at Fayette Field last evening. The U. P. nine has been leading the game by two runs when the Christian batters got base and cover was scored. Then the game ended and the contest continued further the Christian batters say the team would have noted the victors out.

The South Side Pirates playing an up-hill game defeated Jim Hicks All Stars in a game on the Trump Run grounds last evening. The score was 10-5.

The Lutherans were defeated by the Covenanters in a game at May Field last evening. The score was 3-1.

The Pirates winning streak was broken by St. Louis yesterday when Dock hung rope over the Blues. The score was 6-2. At the same time the Giants won a double header from Boston widening the gap between first and second place.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. baseball team has three games in four evenings next week. On Monday evening the outfit at City League nine will meet the Evangelicalists of the Church League at May Field. Wednesday evening the Fayette Bakers will be played at Fayette Field the game being one postponed from May 18. Thursday evening the West Penn will be played at Fayette Field.

What Shall He Wear?

It is indeed an interesting moment in the life of a man who is being asked to wear a suit of clothes. He is asked to wear a suit of clothes. He is asked to wear a suit of clothes.

It seems nonsensical to him yet there is no one to tell him what he shall wear. He is asked to wear a suit of clothes. He is asked to wear a suit of clothes.

Maybe a new relative will have a fashionable, modern, he may be invited to go to a party, and his rich uncle may die and be buried with pomp and ceremony.

In any instance, it is to be may be nice and here is what to wear, and when to wear it.

For formal evening wear a full dress coat with trousers of the same material, white waistcoat of black or gray silk, platinum or jeweled links and studs, white shirt, fold or wing collar, dark bow tie, black hose, patent or dull shoes or pumps, any hat except high silk hat.

For informal parties, dinners and theatres a tuxedo with trousers of same material, waistcoat of black or gray silk, platinum or jeweled links and studs, white shirt, fold or wing collar, dark bow tie, black hose, patent or dull shoes or pumps, any hat except high silk hat.

Formal daytime dress, wedding, funerals, etc.—Cutaway coat, black shoes or oxfords, trousers of gray striped worsted, waistcoat to match coat, fold or wing collar, four in hand or bow tie, patent or calfskin shoes, black derby or high silk hat.

This list is correct in every detail and is to help the man who is too busy to pay much attention to such things.

Mere Infant in Teens Holds Goodly Share of Records.

Host of Youngsters Have Been Showing Their Heels to Their Elders in Their Respective Branches of Sport.

What chance has the old folks in their twenties or the middle athletes who have passed the thirty year mark with the best of it in infants in their teens who hold such a goodly share of athletic records? Consider it no achievement at all to smash a record almost at will.

There is Johnny Weissmuller who at seventeen has claim to no less than 18 world's records in the water and is said to be the greatest swimmer of all times. Bud Houser at seventeen who defeated Pat McDonald in the shot put with ease. Vin at Richards not yet twenty and almost a veteran on the tennis courts, Clenna Collett the eighteen year old golfer phenom.

Vincent Richards.

un Tech Jones and a letter still lightens. Filled with action of the Olympic team and winner of the world's famous boxing championship at the time of the fight.

Edwin W. Whitcomb and the Baltimore both set records.

Thus, and a host of others have been showing their heels to their elders in their respective branches of sport.

Does it mean that it is a new era in sports? Or what will these juveniles do to the oldsters when they have obtained their full powers. Will they crush completely in softness or will they be forced to give in further and younger generation?

An Open Letter

To Enterprising Folks Who Want to See and Are Willing to Aid Home Industry—

It is said that "Necessity is the Mother of Invention" and the late war developed some wonderful changes. Chemistry played the largest part in solving some of the many problems and especially that of food.

The U. S. Government, in their effort to solve the high cost of living requested every college teaching Aeronautical and Food Chemistry to assign special subjects to students and through chemical research developed economic methods of preparing food products for the market.

Pennsylvania State College was one of the leaders in this development and two of their chemistry students specializing on food chemistry who graduated last year discovered during their many tests a process whereby certain food products can be treated and prepared so that they will be better and not become tough and rancid.

To manufacture these products a company has been organized, a building leased which is now being transformed into a factory preparatory to the installation of modern equipment, and any person with one hundred dollars or more to invest where they can watch it grow is invited to get a sample of Fried Peanuts (which is only one of our products) at the Connellsville Drug Store and if you like the product leave your name and address for one of our company to call on you and give you full details.

Quick action will be necessary as orders are knocking at our door and we are bound to put it over. If local people will not accept our exceptional offer of permitting a few to fully share with us outside capital will do it.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON GAINING IN HEALTH DAILY AT SARANAC LAKE

"Big Six" as He Appeared in Pitching for the New York Giants.

Christy Mathewson from his straddler of the New York Giants is improving in health daily at Saranac Lake and so his ultimate recovery within a short time. The injury which he has suffered have not done much to his optimism or shaken his resolve to come back. This is the substance of a message which "Big Six" delivered to George Wilson, his roommate in the days when they were both shining lights on the New York team.

In the first personal interview that Mathewson has given since he was sent into retreat after his physical in the old war horse said: "I am really feeling fine now. I am gaining in strength every day. Christy looks well and speaks in a strong voice, considering the terrible blow he has undergone."

CHAPTER XX

The Calfy Man
The quest for the bodies of Black and Lee Chambers had established the fact, ascertained by a search party on the day after the fire, that there were no human remains under the charred timbers of the camp. Notwithstanding this, when the attempts made to trace McDonald and his daughter failed, it was generally believed that they had been lured there by the outlaws and had either died in the flames or had been murdered and their bodies disposed of.

Jim Betts had nothing more substantial than any other on which to base his search. He was resolved to find Wilton and having failed with Kitty, he determined to discover the other woman who, he felt sure had been mixed up in Wilton's life—if she still lived.

The Betts built up the theory that Wilton had arrived at the camp late to save the girl from Fowler, and that half-crazed, who had died with her father into the wilderness. He went to the fishing camp and spent a day prowling among the ruins but he learned nothing there. Then he went to the store. It was still empty, for a new trading post was being established northward and the company had not replaced the factor, perhaps would not do so. Betts broke in.

Everything was as it had been on the night of the fire. The Betts quickly discovered that someone had been there since. For in the dust that covered the floor of Molly's bedroom were the faint imprint of feet. A woman's foot.

That was all the clue Betts got but he satisfied him. He went about him northward and eastward again, in every Indian encampment and talking with the inhabitants. But it was a week before he got his second clue.

Molly and her father left Wilton before the road and crept stealthily into the undergrowth. When they were a short distance from the camp, the guide a wide detour crossed the river and took the trail back toward the portage, encountering nobody on the way.

There the factor got $500 and made up a pack of food sufficient for two weeks' journey. They put on their snow shoes and started eastward.

Molly had noticed that the factor's pack had come to rest on the ground. She had no time to think about it, however, for they were traveling so fast. At the eighth McDonald showed signs of weakness, he had overtaken his strength.

They were following an Indian trail that led to a little Algonquian mission twelve miles farther on. When they reached it, they found a man in a meeting place and half-dressed up.

The brother in charge welcomed them, he put the factor to bed and nursed him assiduously through a sharp attack of pleurisy. McDonald in his delirium raved incessantly. All the ghosts of the past returned to him. Night before night he raved, while Molly tended him in his agony. But at last the delirium left him and consciousness, screaming into the sick man's soul, could no more pass the seal upon his lips.

He was in a fever to be gone. He wanted his rifle, he cleaned and oiled it. He asked for his snowshoes, and began examining the strings. As Molly gave them to him, she suddenly perceived that one of the frames was broken. And there dashed into her mind the memory of her discovery beside the portage on that day when she saved Wilton.

She would not let the dark thought in her heart come into consciousness. But she knelt at the factor's side, her arms around him. "What is troubling you?" "You must tell me."

McDonald was shuddering like an aspen. "If I've repaid, let for when that was done me and mine."

"What have you done?" "Whom have you repaid?" "You must tell me!" "He clutched at her. "I saved him what would be if he came between me and mine. And when he said Wilton's father to steal you from me—was at the back of that—I shot him."

"Whom?" "Molly's eyes searched into his soul."

"Joe Toole!"

After a long time Molly took the factor's hands in hers. "Well go on," she said in a hard voice. "Thank God, no innocent man has been suspected. I'll stay with you. I'll never speak of this again. But if ever the guilt is unjustly placed on anyone, you will go back to Clayton and confess the truth or I'll denounce you."

"Aye, I'll go back," Molly he cried. "No man shall have the name of a murderer—if you stay by me till then Molly." She left him, and with a singular clarity of mind, as if there were nothing more to fear or hope and no room for further feeling, she went to the door and looked out across the snow-bound wilderness.

She saw a figure thrumping through the snow toward the mission. And thus Jim Betts found her.

"Here Come the Elephants!"

Do you remember how you used to be on the job bright and early to see the circus parade? Do you remember how you thrilled as the lions, tigers and the big lumbering elephants passed in review? How the horns, the blare of the bands, the antics of the clowns and the roar of it all inspired you with a fervid determination to see the real show—the big performance in the tent?

You didn't realize it then but you were getting a lot out of an attractive advertisement.

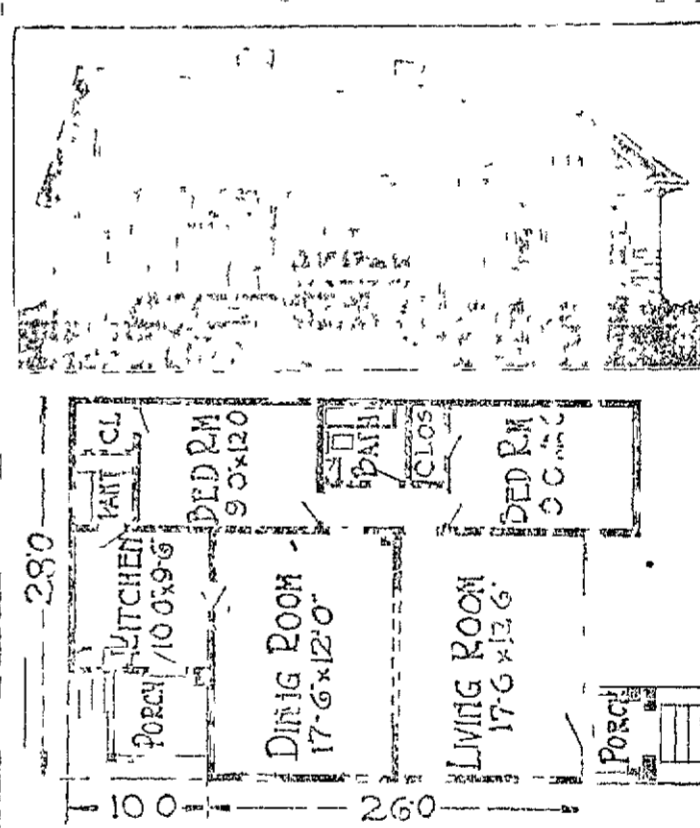

Perhaps you don't realize it now, but other advertisements, just as effective, just as inviting and a far more valuable to you, parade daily before you in the columns of this paper.

The merchants and makers of every thing you want or need, here display before you their most attractive wares. It is truly "the greatest show on earth."

The whole purpose of an advertisement is to excite your curiosity, to give you a hint, even a suggestion, to tell you something you don't know, to remind you of something you have forgotten, to convince you of something over which you have been hesitating.

In short, the purpose of an advertisement is to show you another way to make you happier.
